WHAT IS WEALTH.

Wealth is something more than gold,
More than luxury and ease;
Treasures never to be told
May be found apart from these,
Men who great possessions own
May be needy none the less:
They are rich, and they alone,
Who have stores of nobleness.

Palaces are dreary domes;
Fair domesnes but deserts wild;
If there be not happy homes,
Gentle thoughts and manners mild.
Trust me, though his lot be small,
And he makes but slight pretence,
He who lives at peace with all,
Dwells in true magnificence.

If you'd prove of noble birth,
O beware of judgments rash;
Scorn to measure human worth
By the sordid rule of cash.
Gold and silver may depart,
Proudest dynasties may fall;
He who has the truest heart
Is the richest of us all.

Not all Sad.

Every hour comes freighted with change. Every hour brings decay and death. Change is whispered in every passing breeze,—written on the airy cloud, painted on the forest leaves, and boomed by the ocean waves as they lash the shore. But change is not always sad. Autumn is but the harbinger of spring. The flowers drop and mingle with the dust, that another, no less beautiful and dear, may bloom. If happy hearts are made sorrowful by unfortunate occurrences, sad hearts, too, are made joyful by pleasant changes. If some are left desolate and alone who were surrounded once by kindred and friends, so some who were friendless and uncared for have found an interest in the hearts, and a home in the affections, of those about them, gladdened by the good fortune that has bettered their condition. Suppose a revelation were given us to-day that everything henceforth in this world was to abide as it is; that the time for change had ceased, and should be known no more again forever; what consternation would seize us. Do any live wholly in the present? Are we not all looking for the coming future to bring us the higher good we seek. It is as true as trite that man is never quite satisfied; the good he pursues is never quite reached, and were all to stop now, farewell to ever accomplishing the great aim for which he lives. Now misfortune assails us, there is hope that some kind change may suddenly turn things to our advantage, and we bear our burdens more lightly as we remember the mutability of earthly things. We are accustomed to speak sadly of earth's changes; but where is the person who would be satisfied with a fixed, monotonous, unvaried life? Change is the power which keeps all things moving, the impulse which stimulates us in everything we do; and in thanking the beneficent Author of existence for the many blessings we enjoy, we should bless him for the changes that checker our lot.

In the spiritual as well as the material world, there is continually change and vastly more important. It is a law of nature that nothing stands still; that in everything there is progression or retrogression. The human mind is either advancing in goodness and knowledge, or it is taking the downward road of ignorance and degradation.—By far the most important change, then, depends wholly on our own choice Earthly change will affect us little if the mind and heart fear becoming better, more enlightened, nearer to the inhabitants of that world who know no change but from the beautiful to the more beautiful, the good to the better, becoming ever more holy, more happy, advancing nearer to the King of glory forever progressing upward and onward.

But the great change must be here. Here must be the preparation for the endless progression or retrogression.—As the duties of one hour fit us for the next, so the doings of our present state fit us for the everlasting future. Let us then instead of bewailing the changes which time is working within us, and see, too, that they be such as shall prepare us for the elevated society of the just made perfect in heaven, that the last mortal change may introduce us to the sweet surprises and fadeless glories of a happy eternity. Let the mutations of life stimulate us to greater earnestness.

☞ Those who are cheerful live longest in life, and after it in our regards. Cheerfulness is the offshoot of goodness It is a sanitary principle as well to the body as to the mind, and it is to both the cause and effect of health.

Important Letters Between Generals Grant and Sherman.

What Each thought of the Other when the Lieutenant Generalship was Re-created.

The following two historical letters are taken from the advance sheets of Col. Bowman's history of "Sherman and his Campaign," shortly to be published by C. B. Richardson, of New York, Col. Bowman writes:

GEN. GRANT TO GEN. SHERMAN.

On the 4th of March, 1864, at Nashville, Major General Grant received telegraph orders to report in person at Washington. Congress had passed an act authorizing the appointment of a Lieutenant General to command the armies of the United States, and the President had nominated Gen. Grant for the appointment. Before starting on his journey, Grant seized his pen, and in the very moment of his greatest elevation, filled with generosity toward those others, to whose exertions he modestly chose to ascribe his own deserved reward, hastily wrote these touching lines:

"DEAR SHERMAN: The bill reviving the grade of Lieutenat General in the army has become a law, and my name has been sent to the Senate for the place. I now receive orders to report to Washington immediately in person, which indicates a confirmation, or a likelihood of confirmation.

"I start in the morning to comply with the order.

"Whilst I have been eminently successful in this war, in at least gaining the confidence of the public, no one feels more than I how much of this success is due to the energy, skill, and the harmonious putting forth of that energy and skill, of those whom it has been *my good fortune to have occupy*ing subordinate positions under me.

"There are many officers to whom these remarks are applicable, to a greater or less degree, proportionate to their ability as soldiers; but what I want is to express my thanks to you and McPherson, as the men to whom, above all others, I feel indebted for whatever I have had of success.

"How far your advice and assistance have been of help to me, you know. How far your execution of whatever has been given you to do entitles you to the reward I am receiving, you cannot know as well as I.

"I feel all the gratitude this letter would express, giving it the most flattering construction.

"The word you I use in the plural, intending it for McPherson also. I should write to him, and will some day, but starting in the morning, I do not know that I will find time just now. Your friend,

"U. S. GRANT,
Major General."

GENERAL SHERMAN'S REPLY.

Sherman received this letter near Memphis on the 10th of March, and immediately replied:

"DEAR GENERAL: I have your more than kind and characteristic letter of the 14th instant. I will send a copy to General McPherson at once.

"You do yourself injustice and us too much honor in assigning to us too large a share of the merits which have led to your high advancement. I know you to approve the friendship I have ever professed to you, and will permit me to continue, as heretofore, to manifest it on all occasions.

"You are now Washington's legitimate successor, and occupy a position of almost dangerous elevation; but if you can continue, as heretofore, to be yourself, simple, honest and unpretending, you will enjoy through life the respect and love of friends, and the homage of millions of human beings, that will award you a large share in securing to them and their descendants a government of law and stability.

"I repeat, you do Gen. McPherson and myself too much honor. At Bel*mont you manifested your traits*—neither of us being near. At Donelson, also, you illustrated your whole character. I was not near, and Gen. McPherson in too subordinate a capacity to influence you.

"Until you had won Donelson, I confess I was almost cowed by the terrible array of anarchical elements that presented themselves at every point; but that admitted a ray of light I have followed since.

"I believe you are as brave, patriotic and just as the great prototype, Washington—as unselfish, kind-hearted and honest as a man should be—but the chief characteristic is the simple faith in success you have always manifested, which I can liken to nothing else than the faith a Christian has in the Saviour.

"This faith gave you victory at Shiloh and Vicksburg. Also, when you have completed your preparations, you go into the battle without hesitation, as at Chattanooga—no doubts, no reserves; and I tell you, it was this that made us act with confidence. I knew, wherever I was, that you thought of me, and if I got in a tight place you would help me out, if alive.

"My only point of doubt was, in your knowledge of grand strategy, and of books of science and history; but, I confess, your common sense seems to have supplied all these.

"Now as to the future. Don't stay in Washington; come West; take to yourself the whole Mississippi Valley. Let us make it dead sure, and I tell you the Atlantic slopes and the Pacific shores will follow its destiny, as sure as the limbs of a tree live or die with the main trunk. We have done much, but still much remains. Time and time's influences are with us. We could almost afford to sit still and let these influences work.

"Here lies the seat of the coming empire; and from the West, when our task is done, we will make short work of Charleston and Richmond, and the impoverished coast of the Atlantic.

Your sincere friend,
W. T. SHERMAN."

A Railroad Car at Night.

B. F. Taylor has been taking a railroad ride, and having failed perhaps, to enjoy the ride, enjoys himself in describing what he saw. The following glimpse at his companions as they appeared when night said "sleep," will be appreciated by all who have "been there."

"I came near forgetting that your old friends were all on the train: the woman who plumps down into your seat and regards you with thankless and supercilious eyebrows, as if you were somebody that had blundered into breathdom without leave; and the man who dons his best garments to travel in; mounts the train as clerical as black broad cloth can make him, and leaves it with the looks of a dusty miller. And the night scenes, sounds and scents are as curious as ever. Whiffs of boots and smothering gusts of musk, patchouli, cheese, tobacco, and feet, that could never be fit to "walk on Zion's hill" without a wade and wash in Jordan, are blended. As the night wears on, the fellow who always fails to be funny, flickers out like a penny dip; the ten-pin of a man who had sat bolt upright all day, grows as courtly as a Mandaran, for even "Homer nods" at times; the girl with little giggle, that had been rippling like run*ning water*, "weak, washy" and everlasting, intermits, grows interesting and falls asleep; men make letter Z's of themselves, shut up like pocket knives, roll up like porcupines, diverge like Y's; trim and shapely women tumble to pieces, and lie in little heaps of undistinguishable garments upon the seats; the red and dissipated lamps wink sleepily and lazily at you, and the clatter to-clank of the iron wheels hammers out the long dull strip of darkness. Then comes that menagerie of respiration that men have agreed to call snoring; you have barks, snuffs, snorts and growls; one creaks like a rusty hinge, another pants like an engine, or whines like a spaniel, or is forever blowing out candles. By and by, the car windows turn rebel grey, for a day is beginning to dawn. Did you ever see a woman hatched out? Now is the golden opportunity. Leada—if that is the lady's name we read of—whose double yolked egg gave us Castor and Pollux—if I have not forgotten all about it—was hardly more wonderful. Yonder bundle of skirts, shawls and cloaks as shapeless as a grist, begins to stir; first, peeps out a pair of feet, and then a pair of hands, and then a fair and tangled head; at last emerges a female shape; and Eve is hatched before your eyes, and the world is better for a waking woman.

FREDERICK, THE GREAT, AND HIS SOLDIERS.—Marching in a very hot day, an old grenadier dropped down, exhausted. Restoratives were administered by a surgeon, and a man was detailed to carry the old soldier's load. But being still weak, he asked to lie down for a few minutes; a young ensign, coming along, in rough language ordered him to move forward. The King heard it, and with a sharp reproof of the officer, said: "My men shall be treated with humanity." He then ordered the old soldier to be set on a horse and the young officer to be sent out of the regiment.

On another occasion, a cannon stuck fast in the road, and while the men were doing their best to get it out, an officer struck one of the men. Frederick, in passing, saw the act and ordered the officer and some of his own attendants to dismount and give assistance to the artillery men. The next morning, sending for the officer, he said to him: "My army is composed of men. You are a monster. You are cashiered. Go to the devil."

A Rich Marriage Ceremony.

The following is a description of a marriage in Illinois, by a newly appointed Justice of the Peace, who is something of a wag. He says:

Having been appointed to the desirable "posish" of Justice of the Peace, I was accosted on the 4th of July by a sleek looking young man, and in silvery tones requested me to proceed to a neighboring hotel, as he wished to enter into the holy bands of matrimony. Here was a "squelcher." I had never done anything of the kind; had no books or forms; yet I was determined to do the thing up strong and in a legal manner, so I proceeded to the hotel, bearing in my arms one copy of the Revised Statutes, one ditto Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, one copy large size Bible, a small copy of the Creed and the Articles of Faith of the Congregational Church, one copy of Pope's Essay on Man, and a sectional part of the map where the victim lived. Having placed a table in the middle of the room, and seated myself behind it, I ing trumpet tones, called the case. With that the young man and woman, with great alacrity stepped up before me. Having sworn them on the dictionary to answer well and truly all questions I was about to ask, I proceeded. I told the young man that, being an entire stranger, I should have to ask him to give bail for the costs.—Having heard this so frequently in court, I thought it indispensable. He answered if I meant the fee for performing the ceremony, he would deposit it then and there. As I did not know exactly what I did mean, I magnanimously waived that portion of the ceremony. I then told him it would be necessary to give bail to keep the place. This he was willing to do when he arrived at home, and I then waived that point also.

Having established to my satisfaction that they wanted to get married, and that they were old enough to enter that blessed state, I proceeded to tie the knot. I asked him if he was willing to take that woman to be his wife. He said he was. I told him that I did not require haste in the answer, that he might reflect a few minutes if he wished. I told him she looked like a fine girl, and I had no doubt she was, but if the sequel proved that he had been taken in, I did not want to be held responsible. I said he must love, honor and obey her as long as she lived. He must not be "snappy" around the house, nor spit tobacco juice on the floor, all of which he promised faithfully to heed.

"Now," said I, "Georgiana, (her name was Georgiana) you hear what Humphrey says. Do you accept the invitation to become his wife? Will you be lenient toward his faults, and cherish his virtues? Will you never be guilty of throwing furniture at his head for slight offenses, and will you get three meals a day without grumbling?" She said she would. I asked them if they believed in the commandments, and they said they did. Having read the creed and the articles of faith, as aforesaid, I exclaimed: "Humphrey, take her; she is yours; I cannot withhold my consent. Georgiana, when safe in the arms of your Humphrey, you can defy the scoffs and jeers of the world."

I then read a little from "Essay on Man." As a finale to the scene, I delivered the following exordium, "Go in peace; sin no more."

The generous Humphrey having placed a fifty cent check in my unwilling palm, I bade the happy pair a final adieu.

IN A FOG.—A few years ago, there lived in the town of———, a son of Judge B., whom we will call Joe, who frequently imbibed more than he could comfortably carry. There also resided in the neighborhood a planter named W., who kept a saloon. Now W. was a great practical joker. On one occasion, Joe came into W.'s saloon, and rather early in the morning got very much intoxicated, and finally fell asleep in his chair. Joe was very near sighted, and always wore specs. After he had slept some time, W. took off his specs, blackened the glasses, put them back again, lighted the lamps, and then awoke Joe, telling him it was about 12 o'clock at night and he wanted to shut up. Joe started, and remarked that he had slept some time. W. then said:

"Joe, it is very dark, and if you will bring it back again, I will lend you a lantern."

W. lighted a lantern, gave it to Joe, and helped him up stairs. Joe went off home (up the main business street,) in the middle of the day, with his lantern, everybody looking at him, and wondering what was the matter.

English Alarm at the Fenians.

The Fenian movement has evidently passed beyond the sphere of English contempt and ridicule. Late European advices state that the English government has taken the precaution to increase the number of regiments in Ireland in consequence of the spread of Fenianism in that country. This information is by no means surprising or unexpected in this country, where the strength and objects of the Fenian movement are generally understood. But it places the London journals in an awkward position. For months past the movement has been a standing joke and burlesque to the London Times, which has exhibited its usual ponderous insensibility to the signs of the times in depreciating what it has been pleased to term "the grand Irish farce." By this period the Times and the lesser fry of journals in England and Ireland that follow in the wake of the great journal, have probably discovered that the Fenian movement is no joke. More English regiments in Ireland! The third part of the British empire once more in an attitude of revolution, and a powerful foreign organization ready to aid and assist, are events that appear to be understood by Lord Palmerston, and can hardly fail to exercise a serious influence on European politics, which are liable to be disturbed by nothing so much as *by events that affect the internal con*dition of the formidable British empire

That England will adopt prompt measures to squelch this rising cloud is self evident. The sympathy of that country for rebellion is like a certain class of British manufactures, intended for the foreign and not the home market. General Lee and Jefferson Davis would be no heroes in Ireland.

That Fenianism is a new and startling menace to England it were folly to deny. The organization in Ireland has progressed quietly and secretly until it embraces by this time fully one-third if not one half of the able bodied men under forty years of age. The feelings of the masses are illustrated by the sympathy manifested for the unlucky and indiscreet Fenians who fall into the hands of the police, and the *terrorism existing against witnes*ses for the prosecution. The late Eng*lish and Irish papers are full of evi*dence of this kind. Another serious danger is the fact that Fenianism has largely penetrated the British army, which is composed of nearly two thirds Irishmen.

But the chief strength of the Fenian movement consists in the fact that it is mainly beyond the reach of British control. If the organization were merely local, it would soon succumb to the potent influence of the prison, the bayonet, and the halter. But the headquarters of the movement are in the United States, where the Celtic race seems inspired with a new and rejuvenating vigor. In this country there cannot now be less than two hundred thousand Fenians devoted and pledged to achieve the independence of Ireland. The example of Italy shows what may be accomplished in foreign countries for the redemption of a distressed nationality. For over a quarter of a century, headquarters of Indian patriots were in France and England. What has been accomplished for Italy is not impossible for Ireland. There are many points of resemblance, and, with proper sagacity, the result may be identical, and success ultimately crown the efforts of the Fenians.

It is evident that the numerous secret societies in Ireland may derive immense aid from the Brotherhood in the United States. The American Fenians can send to their Irish friends the money that constitutes the sinews of war, and the military and civil organizations and discipline that form its brains. The want of these essentials has hitherto produced the failures of the repeated attempts for Irish Independence.

☞ Our young sister who sits by the side of Lake Michigan and says, "I am Chicago; let New York take notice!" sends forth to an astonished country a report that her population on the 1st of June was 204,000 souls.—In the annals of the world's cities this is an unprecedented tale of prosperity. The established residents of that wonderful Babylon of the West frequently say to one another, "It seems only yesterday when we were pasturing cows on the very spot where now we are dwelling in marble palaces." What is the reason? As in Italy "all roads lead to Rome," so in the west all roads lead to Chicago. No man can travel in the West without passing through Chicago Lucky spider! Thy net catches all flies.—Independent.

☞ Chicago has eighty-five hotels.

STRANGE SCENE IN A HOUSE OF MOURNING—A DEAD MAN COMES TO LIFE.—The St. Louis Republican, of the 30th, has the following:

John Redman a colored man, died (as was supposed) at an early hour yesterday morning, at his residence over the grocery store, on the north east corner of Franklin avenue and Twelfth street. A coffin and a shroud were procured, and the colored corpse after being washed, shaved and dressed in the burial clothes, was laid out in the coffin. While his bereaved wife was ringing her tears out of a bandanna handkerchief, and numerous friends, "mute with grief," were sitting around the dead body, talking about what a good man he was, Mr. Redman suddenly raised himself bolt upright in his coffin, with the majesty of death in his cold face.

Moving his not entirely sightless orbs around upon the company of mourners, his clay lips began to chatter some unintelligible stuff about the other world. The result of this hideous performance was to upset the whole assemblage with sudden horror, the female friends fainting and tumbling into each others arms at the sight of the ghost, the men themselves caving in, and with dilated eyes rushing hurriedly out of the room. Mrs. Redman, the distressed widow, was among the number who fainted. When she came to she ran out of the room and out of the house, and nothing could induce her to return during the day, notwithstanding she was assured that her husband had come to be conscious, and that the doctor thought he might recover. We are not informed as to the nature of Redman's disease, but are informed that he was attended by an intelligent physician, who regards the circumstance of his sudden restoration, when, to all appearances, he had been a lifeless man, as something almost preternatural.

RELEASE OF STEPHENS AND OTHERS.—The following proclamation was issued from Washington on the 11th:

Executive Office, Oct. 11.—Whereas, The following named persons, to wit: John A. Campbell, of Alabama, John H. Reagan, of Texas, Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, George A. Trenholm, of South Carolina, and Charles Clarke, of Mississippi, lately engaged in the rebellion against the United States Government, who are now in close custody, have made their submission to the authority of the United States, and applied to the President for pardon under his amnesty proclamation; and whereas, the authority of the Federal Government is sufficiently restored in the aforesaid States to admit of the enlargement of said persons from close custody.

It is ordered that they be released on giving their respective paroles to appear at such time and place as the President may designate, to answer any charge that he may direct to be preferred against them; and also that they will respectively abide, until further orders, in the places herein designated, and not depart therefrom: John A. Campbell in the State of Alabama; John H. Reagan in the State of Texas; Alexander H. Stephens in the State of Georgia; George A. Trenholm in the State of South Carolina, and Charles Clarke in the State of Mississippi; and if the President would grant his pardon to any of said persons paroled, such persons will thereby be discharged. ANDREW JOHNSON,
President of the United States.

OXEN PROFITABLE TEAMS.—Late in the autumn of 1864, a good farmer of our acquaintance, purchased a yoke of ordinary cattle for $200, and used them for hauling wood, rails, and anything else, and for doing most of the plowing for spring crops on a farm of seventy acres. In June, sold them for beef, for $260. He thinks their labor paid well for the meal they consumed. On the same day that he drove these oxen to market, he purchased another yoke for $190. After a few months he sold these for beef, at an advance, which also paid well for the meal fed to them, and purchased another yoke at once, and commenced feeding them with meal, working them occasionally. By this system of trafficking, he made $300 in about one year, and had a good ox team constantly, receiving a good price for all grain fed them besides making a large quantity of excellent manure. He is a good manager, always feeds his teams well, treats them kindly, and never allows them to be over-worked, or worried by disagreeable drivers, who use up more of the energies of a team by bawling at, and whipping them, than by the labor got out of them. He never purchases poor oxen, even at cheap rate, as it requires many dollars worth of meal to get them in a fair condition.—Exchange.

The Recent Election.

We are highly encouraged and gratified with the result of the recent election in this State. From almost every county the returns have come showing large Union gains even upon the Presidential election last year. In some of the "Democratic" counties the majorities they have are so small compared with former elections that we cannot but believe that next year they will give majorities for the Union ticket for Governor. To be sure, our soldiers are at home, and helped to make this encouraging majority; but is not this fact, of itself, sufficient cause for rejoicing to Union men. We see no reason why the opposition should make any ado about this fact, and throw this assertion in our face. Why, we are proud to have it even intimated that the soldiers voted with us; indeed, we do not care if they say that without the soldiers' votes we could not have carried anything. We cannot be ungrateful to our soldiers. We know they helped us, and we sought their aid; but is it not a fitting lesson the opposition received when they found that the true blues will not fight under false colors. They raised as their standard bearers brave soldiers, we will admit, but soldiers as brave and more true were not to be seduced to honor the party that traduced them, by honoring its candidates with their votes. No! our soldiers are as true at home as on the field, and to them belongs much of the glory of the recent victory.

While we are gratifying ourselves with the encouraging results of the recent election, we must not forget that our energies are still needed in the good cause. Let us rejoice; but let not that rejoicing give way to apathy. We must remember that an important State position is to be filled next year, and no laurels are to be lost. Good honest men will undoubtedly be selected to carry the standard of the Union party, and to them must we give the prize. In all things let it be our aim to not only defeat but drive the last vestige of treason from before us, wherever it exists.

THE STATE RETURNS.—The complete official vote in the recent election has not yet been ascertained, the returns of the northern frontier counties still being wanted. As far as heard from, the Union majority stands at 21,679, and it is thought the returns from the remaining counties, the most of which are Union, will swell the majority to over 24,000. This is an increase upon the vote for President, and shows conclusively that the principles of the Union party are the people's choice.—Such a majority as 24,000 is one that the opposition will find very hard to beat, and we have not the least doubt that by next year the numbers in the Union ranks will be so increased as to swell the majority to 30,000. All we want is good men to head the ticket, and the people will support them, no matter what false issues the opposition will present. Their "nigger" issue has been killed, and they can find nothing stronger.

☞We publish in another column, the articles of association of the Soldier's Monument. We are pleased to see this noble movement still in progress, and to know that the able men at its head are earnest in their endeavors to establish a memento in honor of our braves. It is left, as will be seen almost entirely to the citizens of our county, and with what liberality they subscribe, and perseverance they labor, the result will show, for better or worse. The canvassers in each borough and township have been selected, and the subscription books are now open. Col. Wm. Dorris has been appointed canvasser of this borough. Let us inaugurate the movement by subscribing according to our means, as the other districts expect, and they will be led to follow our example. Liberality, like charity, should begin athome.

THE "PRESS."—This valuable journal, printed in Philadelphia, has increased in size from a folio to a quarto sheet, and from thirty two to forty eight columns. The reason for this improvement is attributable to the fact that the people of the city acknowledge its value and the merchants and business men generally are cognizant of its usefulness as an advertising medium. We joyfully hail the arrival of The Press to our table.

Our Representative District.

The following is the official return of votes in this Representative district:

| | Baker. | Brown. | Porter. | Banks. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Huntingdon county, | 2469 | 2525 | 1633 | 1688 |
| Juniata county, | 1225 | 1235 | 1509 | 1482 |
| Mifflin county, | 1564 | 1583 | 1510 | 1496 |
| Total, | 5258 | 5341 | 4652 | 4567 |

Baker over Porter 606, over Banks 691. Brown over Porter 689, over Banks 774.

The soldier vote when counted will give our candidates a still larger majority.

Letter from India.

SEETAPORE, OUDH, INDIA,
August 10th, 1865.

MY DEAR FRIEND LEWIS:—Years have passed since my last letter was penned for the Globe. For this long delay there have been two good reasons: first, the state of our dear native land has been such during those long years that very little besides war news in your columns would find readers; in the second place, I have been so busy mastering the languages of the people among whom I labor, that I have not had much time for letter writing. Happily, these reasons for silence are no longer so good. The sun of peace has once more dawned on what is now, more truly than ever before, and I have long since learned to speak in a strange tongue with considerable fluency.

"The land of the free, and the home of the brave;"

I have just been reading Sala's "My Diary in America," and in my opinion if every falsehood he tells had weighed one pound, and the sum total had been put on board with him when he embarked for England, the steamer would have gone down ere she reached the middle of the Atlantic. I have always been proud of my native land, and am now, more so than ever, notwithstanding the scurrulous articles of the foul-mouthed Sala. During the past four years I have had conversations with several of Johnny Bull's sons, of the Sala stamp, and I have found them invariably in sympathy with the South. But this was not the case with all. I have met with many men, who, like the lamented Cobden and liberty loving Bright, are in hearty sympathy with the institutions of Republican America. I hope the day will never come when the stars and stripes will not be hailed with pleasure in every part of the British empire. I am often asked, What will you do with your armies now that the war is over? I invariably answer we will not have to do anything with them; ours are citizen soldiers, and they will go home and do for themselves. The English here cannot help praising our great generals and brave soldiers. A gentleman at a dinner table some time ago, remarked to me that Sherman's victorious march from Atlanta to Savannah, had seldom been equalled by any army in Europe or Asia. A gallant captain in speaking of the probabilities of Russia ever attacking India, remarked, "fifty thousand Russians, with a Sherman at their head, could march from Pashawee (in the Punjaub) to Calcutta."

The Anglo Indian press universally acknowledge President Lincoln to have been one of the greatest and best of men. They consider his successor "rather stubborn," but decidedly an able man. The assassination of President Lincoln called forth from all the Indian papers, leaders condemning the horrible deed, and sympathizing with our government and people.

By the Indo European telegraph line we get news from England in three or four days.

In my next I will try and give you some personal reminiscences of life in India. With a profound salaam to you and your readers, I remain,

Your old contributor,
J. D. BROWN.

To the Union Men of Pennsylvania.

Rooms Union State Central Committee, No. 1108 Chestnut Street,
PHILADELPHIA, October 19, 1865.

Another political contest has been determined by the freemen of Pennsylvania. The Union cause has again triumphed at the ballot-box. Official returns have been received from sixty-two counties of the sixty-six in the State. Of these, fifty-four show gains for the Union cause over the vote of 1862. The aggregate gains over all losses are nearly twenty-five thousand. This will give to our candidates on the home vote alone majorities exceeding that given by army and home vote to our late lamented President, Abraham Lincoln. Of the seven Union Senators whose terms of office expired, we have not lost one. The home vote has gained us one from the Opposition in Luzerne, and the army vote will gain us another in Franklin and Adams. In the lower House we have retained all of our sixty-three members of last session. The home vote has added three to this number, and the army vote will give us one more. The Senate will stand twenty-one to twelve, and the House sixty-seven to thirty-three, thus giving to us a majority of forty-three on joint ballot.

For these results, so gratifying to the friends of our cause in Pennsylvania, and to all patriots throughout the nation, we are deeply indebted to the returned soldiers of the late Union army, who have taught their friends and their foes that they know as well how to vote intelligently for the cause of the country as they know how to fight bravely and heroically for the same cause.

Much praise is due to the press of the Union party throughout the State for its patriotic efforts in the good work.

To the secretaries of the State Central Committee, Messrs. Hamersly and Benedict, the loyal men of Pennsylvania are under lasting obligations. Upon them devolved arduous and responsible duties. Many of their labors are not witnessed or even known to the public. They labored assiduously by day and by night for the success of the Union cause, to which they are both most devotedly attached.

Every member of the State Central Committee performed well his part, co operated cheerfully and cordially with the chairman in promoting the success of the Union ticket. To the chairmen of the several county committees, and the members of those committees it is conceded that much of the credit of our triumph belongs. To all the true and faithful men of the State, who so effectually discharged their duties, and made our triumph easy as well as overwhelming, our most earnest and hearty thanks are extended.

The defeat of our opponents is thorough and disastrous. To them it was unexpected, although well merited. Having opposed the war so happily and so gloriously terminated, they changed their policy, nominated officers, and assumed to be the especial friends of the soldiers. They were confident and defiant. When we were silent, they clamorously and imperiously demanded our views. When we spoke they charged that it was "puerile invective." They told their followers "that we were endeavoring to turn their flanks," and called lustily upon them "to pierce our center."—Some of them retired with both flanks turned and their centre pierced. The balance were made prisoners.

Last year they assured their followers that the election had been carried at the point of the bayonet; that military rule had interfered with freedom of the election, and that our country was fast verging towards a military depotism. That shallow pretext cannot avail them now.

Supporting soldiers, they became the champions of deserters and refugees from the draft. To rally their desponding and disheartened forces they proclaimed that our President had become a convert to their views. They well knew the opinions of those who had elected him, and the principles of the platform upon which he stood. Yet they would gladly have induced him to abandon his friends and his principles in order that they might be restored to power.

The spirit of slavery, secession and State sovereignty had assassinated one President within the last six months, and was striving to demoralize and steal another. The experiment failed—The effort to make it has been terribly rebuked by the people, and the result is the complete demoralization and overthrow of those who dared to misrepresent our Chief Magistrate in order to promote the success of their sinking cause.

The oft-repeated and well-established truth of history has again been vindicated. No man, in any country, can take sides against his Government when engaged in war, whether foreign or domestic, and retain the confidence and respect of his fellow citizens after the termination of that war. And such is the unavoidable fate of parties. Either the party which antagonizes the Government during the war must go down or the nation must perish. Our nation is too young to die.

Those who opposed our armies on the field of battle have been defeated. The party whose leaders opposed the prosecution of our war for national existence has been beaten at the ballot box. Our people have just given another of the highest proofs of the fact that "man is capable of self government. The people at the ballotbox have declared their adherence to the principles which were made triumphant by the skill and bravery of American officers, soldiers and seamen amid the storm of battle. Let all good Union men continue to be faithful and true to the cause of their country, and all will be well. The nation, purified by the fiery ordeal through which it has lately passed, will start upon a new era of progress. The enemies of free government will everywhere respect and fear our greatness and power, and the down trodden and oppressed of every clime will seek and find an asylum in our midst. JOHN CESSNA,
Chairman Union State Central Com.

ANDERSONVILLE CEMETERY.

The Official Report of the Government Party who Buried our Dead.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The report of Captain J. M. Moore, A. Q. M., who was sent to Andersonville, Georgia, to mark the graves of Union prisoners for future identification, contains valuable information in which the people are interested. He writes as follows:

In accordance with special orders, No. 19, Quartermaster General's office, dated June 30, 1865, directing me to proceed to Andersonville, Georgia, for the purpose of marking the graves of Union soldiers for future identification and enclosing the cemetery, I left Washington on the 8th of July last, for Andersonville, Ga., via Savannah, with mechanics and material, for the purpose above mentioned. On my arrival at Savannah, I ascertained there was no railroad communication whatever to Andersonville, the direct road to Macon being broken, and that from Augusta, via Atlanta, in the same condition.

At length, on the morning of the 18th of July, the gratifying telegram from Augusta was received announcing the completion of the Augusta and Macon road to Atlanta, when I at once determined to procure a boat and proceed to Augusta by the Savannah river

On my arrival there I found the railroad completed to Macon, and that from Macon to Andersonville having never been broken, experienced little difficulty in reaching my destination, where I arrived July 25th, after a tiresome trip occupying six days and nights.

At the different stations along the route the object of the expedition was well known, and not unfrequently men, wearing the garb of rebel soldiers would enter the cars and discuss the treatment of our prisoners at Andersonville, all of whom candidly admitted it was shameful and a blot on the escutcheon of the South that years would not efface.

While encamped at Andersonville I was daily visited by men from the surrounding country, and had an opportunity of gleaning their feelings toward the Government, and, with hardly an exception, found those who had been in the rebel army penitent and more kindly disposed than those who have never taken a part, and anxious to again become citizens of the Government which they fought so hard to destroy.

On the morning of the 26th of July, the work of identifying the graves, painting and lettering of head boards, laying out walks and enclosing the cemetery was commenced, and on the evening of August 16 was completed, with the exceptions hereafter mentioned. The dead were found buried in trenches, on a site selected by the rebels, about three hundred yards from the stockade. The trenches varied in length from fifty to one hundred and fifty yards. The bodies in the trenches were from two to three feet below the surface, and in several instances, where the rains had washed away the earth, but a few inches.

Additional earth was, however, thrown on the graves, making them of a still greater depth. So close were they buried without coffins, or the ordinary clothing to cover their nakedness, that not more than twelve inches was allowed to each man; indeed the little tablets marking their resting place, measuring hardly ten inches in width, almost touched each other.

United States soldiers, while prisoners at Andersonville, had been detailed to inter their companions; and by a simple stake at the head of each grave, which bore a number corresponding with a similar numbered name upon the Andersonville hospital record, I was enabled to identify and mark with a neat tablet, similar to those in the cemetries at Washington—the number, name, rank, regiment, etc., and date of death of twelve thousand four hundred and sixty-one graves, there being but four hundred and fifty one which bore the inscription "Unknown U. S. Soldiers."

One hundred and twenty thousand feet of pine lumber was used in these tablets alone.

The cemetery contains fifty acres, and has been divided by one main avenue, running through the centre, and sub-divided into blocks and sections in such a manner that, with the aid of the record, which I am now having copied for the superintendent, the visitors will experience no difficulty in finding any grave.

Andersonville is situated on the Southern Railroad, sixty miles from Macon. There is but one house in the place, except those erected by the so-called Confederate Government as hospitals, officers' quarters, and commissary and quartermasters' buildings. It was formerly known as Anderson, but since the war the "ville" has been added.

The noted prison pen is fifteen hundred and forty feet long, and seven hundred and fifty feet wide, and contains twenty-seven acres. The dead line is seventeen feet from the stockade, and the sentry-boxes are thirty yards apart. This inside stockade is eighteen feet high, the outer one twelve feet, and the distance between the two is one hundred and twenty feet.

Nothing has been destroyed. As our exhausted, emaciated, and enfeebled soldiers left it, so it stands to-day, as a monument to an inhumanity unparalleled in the annals of war.

How men could survive as well as they did in this pen, exposed to the rays of an almost tropical sun by day and drenching dews by night, without the slightest covering, is wonderful.

The ground is filled with holes, where they have burrowed in their efforts to shield themselves from the weather, and many a poor fellow, in endeavoring to protect himself in this manner, was smothered to death by the earth falling in upon him.

A very worthy man has been appointed superintendent of the grounds and cemetery, with instructions to allow no buildings or structures of whatever nature to be destroyed, particularly the stockade surrounding the prison pen.

The stories told of the sufferings of our men while prisoners here are substantiated by hundreds, and the skeptic who will visit Andersonville even now and examine the stockade, with its black, oozy sand, the cramped and wretched burrows, the dead line and the slaughter-house, must be a callous observer indeed if he is not convinced that the miseries depicted of this prison-pen are no exaggerations.

Monument Association.

The undersigned, on behalf of the Committee appointed for that purpose, respectfully report the following articles of association:

I—NAME.

This association shall be known as the Soldiers' Monument Association of Huntingdon County.

II—OBJECT.

The object of this association shall be to erect, preserve and take care of a monument to the memory of the citizens of Huntingdon county who lost their lives in the service of the United States during the late rebellion

III—MEETINGS.

The regular meetings of this association shall be on the second Mondays of August, November, January and April, of each year, at the Court House in the borough of Huntingdon; though the President shall have power to call special meetings at such other times and places as he may deem the interests of the association require.

IV—MEMBERSHIP.

The membership of the Association shall consist of all citizens of Huntingdon county who may feel interested in the work for which it is organized.

V—REPRESENTATION.

Each borough and township in the county shall have one vote for each one hundred dollars which shall be paid by its citizens into the funds of the association upon all questions, as well as all elections. The subscribers to the fund in each township and borough shall in each manner, and at such times and place as may please them, appoint suitable persons to cast the vote of their borough or township, at the meetings of the association. Provided, that each borough or township shall have at least one vote, And provided further, that until the Executive Committee shall signify to the President that a sufficient sum has been subscribed and paid, to carry out the design of the association, each person present at any meeting shall be entitled to vote.

VI—OFFICERS.

1. The officers of this association shall be a President, three Vice Presidents, two Secretaries, a Treasurer, who shall be Treasurer of the Executive Committee, and an Executive Committee of thirteen members, all of whom (except the Executive Committee) shall be elected annually, on the second Monday of August. The Executive Committee shall be appointed by the President elect.

2. The President shall preside at all meetings of the association, and shall be ex officio a member of the Executive Committee.

3. The Vice Presidents shall assist the President in the discharge of his duties, and in his absence one of them shall act President; they shall also be ex officio members of the Executive Committee.

4. The Secretaries shall keep a faithful record of all business transacted at the meetings of the association, and shall prepare and keep a table showing the number of votes to which each borough or township shall be entitled.

5. The Treasurer shall receive all moneys of the association and disburse the same upon the orders of the Chairman of the Executive Committee, approved by the President of the association, and shall report annually, on the second Monday of August, all his receipts and disbursements. He shall also exhibit his accounts to the inspection of the Executive Committee, whenever they shall require it.

6. The Executive Committee shall take charge of the collection of contributions, appoint canvassers for the several townships and boroughs, make such rules and regulations for the collection of funds, as they may deem proper and expedient, make such investment of the funds of the association as may to them seem best, and in all things control and manage the funds of the association. When in their opinion a sufficient sum has been subscribed and paid, to carry out the design of the association, they shall notify the President of the fact, and shall furnish the Secretaries with a list of the contributions, with a statement showing the name and residence of the contributors. They shall select and purchase a site for the monument, choose a design for the same, make all necessary contracts for work and materials, superintend the construction of the work, under such rules and regulations as they may see proper to adopt, and shall be entrusted with the care and preservation of the monument and ground. They shall have power to appoint one of their number to act as their Secretary and prescribe his duties. They shall also have power to fill any vacancy which may occur in their number during the year by death, resignation, or otherwise.

VII—AMENDMENTS.

No amendment or alteration of these articles of association shall be made, until after a sufficient sum has been subscribed and paid to carry out the object of the association.

All of which is respectfully submitted. J. D. CAMPBELL, Chairman.

The undersigned, on behalf of the Committee, respectfully report the following list of officers.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

To Subscribers.

Those subscribers receiving a paper marked with a † before the name will understand that the time for which they subscribed is up. If they wish the paper continued they will renew their subscription through the mail or otherwise. tf.

☞We have a kind of idea that some companies were to bore for oil in this county. Have they got the oil, or was it all gas?

☞With the result of the recent election before their eyes, will the opposition still persist in saying the war for the right is a "failure?"

☞The Commissoner of Internal Revenue has decided that peddlers are not enabled to sell spirits or malt liquor under the law, without taking out licenses as liquor dealers, wholesale or retail, as the case may be. Temperance men bear this in miad.

☞Those of our citizens, and they were many who were present at the parade of firemen in Philadelphia on Monday a week last, say that it was a grand and gorgeous spectacle. Some of them remained over five hours watching the procession.

☞Our correspondent, Rev. J. D. Brown, formerly of this place, it will be seen has resumed his letters from India. They will be found interesting and instructing, and we are always pleased to hear from "India's coral strand."

☞A change has taken place in the running time of some of the trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The change was made to accommodate passengers from the Tyrone branch. Read changes as made in schedule of this week's paper.

☞The eclipse of the sun, which took place on Thursday last, was not distinctly visible here. The sky was clouded, but we did notice that the day was unusually dark for cloudy weather. This circumstance prevented those who had their glass prepared from taking a good view of one of the phenomena of nature.

☞The nut supply is very plentiful in this county this year. Parties from this place that have gone in search of walnuts and shelbarks have returned with their conveyances filled. Chestnuts are also represented as plenty, but as yet we have had no ocular demonstration to prove it. We are always willing to thank a bountiful donor, so who is ready to let us try our jaws.

☞At the recent fair, the following report upon Sheep having failed to be handed in, its publication was omitted. Samuel Neal, of Oneida, received a premium of $4 for the best fine wool buck; D. Rhodes, of Henderson, received the same amount for the best bakewell buck, and again for the best bakewell ewe.

☞Butter in the "ancient borough" is quoted at 40 cents per pound. Where are your war prices? or, rather where are your anti-butter associations? We think the latter can more readily be found amongst the poor. This seems to be the average price in every town in the State. But wait a little while, and, if we are not much mistaken, the figures will be quoted a few pennies higher. Let it come, but more's the pity.

☞The 195th Regiment, P. V. V., Col. Joseph W. Fisher, now lying at Washington, D. C., is to be mustered out of service. This is the regiment of which our young friend John Willoughby is Adjutant, and the same to which Capt. Johnston's company, from this place, was at first attached. It was formerly a hundred days regiment, in which were many of the Huntingdon county boys.

☞We have not ascertained how much money was realized from our recent Fair by the Agricultural Society, but we judge enough was received to enable the Society to purchase and fix up new grounds for the next fair. We have heard a rumor to the effect that the Society intend purchasing the island, a short distance west of this place. This, in our opinion, would be a very suitable location, and we hope to hear of the Society taking steps for its purchase. We must have fairs, and we should have an appropriate place to hold them.

☞"They say" that one of the latest fashions with the ladies is wearing long ends of narrow ribbon around their neck. Few of the uninitiated know the significance of the same. When they wear ends hanging down in front it means that "the lady is married," over the right shoulder that "she is engaged," down the back that she "has a feller coming to see her but isn't engaged," over the left shoulder it means "Fellers, come follow me." If she does not wear any, it means that she "is engaged" and don't wish to have anything to do with any other feller."

Broke Jail.

The usual number of prisoners in this jail was considerably reduced by the untimely departure of five, named respectively Samuel Stevens, Nelson W. Stowder, Tilgham Geiger, Samuel Dearmit, and Alexander Gates. This circumstance occurred on Thursday night, the 19th. The prisoners effected their escape by removing the bar that fastens the back door, in the middle of the night, and before the fact of their escape was known to the Sheriff, they were far enough away to evade pursuit. It was subsequently learned that three of the party had been in Alexandria, this county, the following morning, where the necessities of chilly nights and no doubt ragged appearance, compelled either one or all to steal a coat. We believe that they were en route for Williamsburg, as we have learned that is where three of the prisoners resided. The Sheriff has advertised a reward of $100 for the capture of the whole party, or $20 for either of them lodged in the jail of this county.

The Sheriff has had some trouble with his visitors for some time past in their attempts to escape and was one night awakened by hearing a noise in one of the apartments, when upon going to the place he discovered that a prisoner had sawed off one of the bars that secured the window. Our jail should be made so that malefactors would be afraid to enter it, and the way to accomplish this will only be by building a new one. We think enough prisoners have escaped to impress every one with the same belief.

Robberies in the Ancient Borough.

Within the past two weeks, this place has been infested with robbers, and no doubt, is yet. The store of Etnier & Cunningham was entered, but we believe nothing was missed. Next the store of Mr. Kooker was entered, and about fourteen pounds of tobacco extracted therefrom, and on Friday night the confectionery of Robt. Raum, was entered, and ten or twelve dollars, besides some confectionery stolen.

This robber, if it is only one, is bold, and is urged on to the deeds because he is not taken, and it is high time vigilance should be exercised to catch him. The sooner he is caught, the sooner anxiety will be suppressed, and the safer our people will feel. We have seldom had robberies following each other in such rapid succession, and although the robberies committed are not very extensive, yet if measures are not taken to prevent its continuance, the miscreant and the crime will be encouraged, and where we have now but one robber and slight robberies, we will have a host of robbers and heavy robberies. The first robber caught is always accused of all the preceding robberies, a fact which the robber should bear in mind, and, to be safe, upon him should be meted punishment to the full extent of the law.

A Heap of Information.

From a western paper we clip the following item, and in connection would say that the editor must have better facilities for gathering such information than we care about possessing. We give the item more to let the citizens of thriving Spruce Creek know what is thought of their town in certain sections. We must add that the information is entirely new to us, but from the fact that our sister town can and does boast of a goodly portion of prepossessing ladies, we have no doubt of the correctness of the connubial news:

A FAST PLACE.—Spruce Creek, Huntingdon county, must be rather an interesting town. An exchange says "that during the past two months, there have been six or more marriages from that place, three of which have been runaway matches. The parties would have certainly done better by waiting a few years, as they were mostly quite young. Madame Rumor says that one young lady who left there some time ago for Harrisburg, never reached her destination, and was not heard from until recently; it now appears that she ran away with a married man of Altoona. Another report is that a married man, formerly a resident of Spruce Creek, has left his wife and family and is to be married to a lady whose husband has deserted her. The people seem determined to make a stir and draw attention to the place."

☞As this is the time everybody prepares for the inclemency of winter, we have heard of somebodies who have gotten their provisions in a very little way—as, for instance, by entering the cellar of their neighbors and taking away "more than they can carry" in the way of hams, dried beef, and anything else that is good. We have also heard that some of our merchants were troubled with a visit from that class of people who get a thing and forget to pay for it. There is one consolation in having such customers, and that is if you detect them once they won't trouble you again. For all thieves, confinement in the lock-up is what is necessary.

Died.

Mr. Wm. W. Young, formerly freight agent at this station, was buried at Alexandria, on Friday. He was severely injured in a recent railroad smash-up on the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, and died from the effects thereof.

Be Ready.

Our readers should be ready to subscribe for the "Family Record" when the agent Mr A. Harrison makes his visit. We understand that it cannot be had at any book store.

Death of Col. Wm. Butler and Lady.

Our community was startled, says the Lewistown Gazette of last week, on Saturday evening by the announcement by telegraph that Col. W. Butler of this place had been killed, followed by another that Mrs. Butler was also dead, as well as a nephew of the Colonel's named W. H. Butler, residing we believe at Williamsport. The accident occured near Kauffman's Station, between Mount Joy and Lancaster, by the front axle of the car breaking, the end turning up nearly perpendicular, breaking the car in two, and of course making fearful havoc of life among the passengers, nine of whom were reported instantly killed and a large number wounded, five of whom survived only a few hours. Col. Butler was no doubt killed on the spot, having received a frightful blow on the side of his head; and his face and forehead exhibiting injuries of a most fearful character. Mrs. Butler was awfully crushed and mangled, she having probably fallen on the track, dragged some distance and then run over by the other cars. Their remains were brought to this place on Monday morning, and with deep manifestations of sympathy for his bereaved family of helpless children, interred in the afternoon—most public places of business having been closed during the funeral hours.

In Col. Butler's sudden and unlooked for death our community has lost an excellent, kind hearted and liberal citizen, ever ready to do more than his part in public enterprises as well as in acts of genuine benevolence, for we doubt whether the poor appealed to him in vain even on occasions when justice to himself would have dictated a different course. Mrs. Butler was a daughter of George W. Wiley, Esq, of this place, was much esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances who will miss and mourn her long. Col. Butler was aged about 55 years, and Mrs. Butler about 31.

They are, if our recollection serves us right, the first passengers from this place killed on the Pennsylvania Railroad since its completion here in 1849. The accident was one against which it is difficult for human foresight to guard and but adds another solemn warning to all that "In the midst of life we are in death."

Homicide in Gaysport.

We regret to announce says the Hollidaysburg Standard of the 18th, that a terrible and distressing tragedy occurred on Monday afternoon, at half past one o'clock, at the store of D. Watson & Co., in Gaysport. It was the monthly day for settling with the hands, and James Crawford, aged about seventeen, and son of Maj. Jesse R. Crawford, of Gaysport, was engaged, on the part of Watson & Co., in settling with Nicholas Riley, one of the hands at the furnace of the Blair Iron and Coal Company. Some dispute took place about the correctness of one of the charges, when, as we are informed, angry words passing, Riley struck young Crawford in the stomach with several blows of his fist, from the effects of which he died in a few moments. His body was removed across the street to the residence of his father, where but short time before he had left his mother and sisters all unconscious of his sad fate. The family are plunged in the deepest distress, and we are sure they have one and all the sincere sympathy of the community. Major Crawford was absent at the time, and was at once telegraphed by the friends of the family.

Riley was immediately taken into custody by Sheriff Bechtel, and with the assistance of Constable Moorehouse was lodged in jail.

Coroner Weidenall held an inquest on the body, and returned a verdict in accordance with the facts above stated. Due notice will be given of the time of the funeral of Crawford.

Drowned.

On Monday forenoon last, a little son of Mrs. Knode, of Portstown, while playing along the banks of the canal in the neighborhood of the Broad Top Railroad bridge, fell in and was drowned. He was found floating on the water. Restoratives were applied, but life was extinct, and all efforts to revive the child were fruitless.

Broke Out Again.

Henry Stroube has purchased the store of Wm. March & Bro. at Marklesburg and gives notice that he is prepared to supply all demands in his trade. The business will be conducted by the Messrs. March, who will be pleased to attend to the wants of customers.

Good Ink.

We have received from Mr. Simon Cohn, Coffee Run, Agent for the National Ink Company, a bottle of ink, and after trying it, we recommend it as a first rate article, and all he represents it to be in his advertisement. It can be had from Mr. Cohn wholesale or retail. Send him your orders.

☞The men who went up Salt River last year with flags half lowered and lips still lower, and who returned this year, have again "gone up" to their favorite retreat scared and grumbling at the tune of 20,000 more.

☞The man in the opposition party who attempted to sing "our hopes have departed forever," was drummed out of camp, and has since learned that though his former friends will live in hopes they must die in despair.

New Grocery Store.

C. Long & Co. have just opened a Grocery and Confectionary store, in Long's former store, at the corner of the diamond. This is a Family Grocery store, keeping on hand the largest and best assortment of Groceries, Confectioneries, Nuts, Fruit, &c., &c., which will be sold at the lowest rates. Give 'em a call.

Dedication.

The new M. E. Church at Ennisville, Manor Hill Circuit, will be dedicated on the 5th day of November, next Bishop Ames, of Baltimore, Dr. I. C. Pershing of Pittsburg, and many other ministers will be present. All are cordially invited to attend.

☞Breaking out of jail is becoming so common that nobody considers it anything of a feat. A week or two ago two men charged with the murder of the Misses Paul and Munday escaped from the Ebensburg jail.

MARRIED,

At Hopewell, Oct. 19th, 1865, by Rev. S. A. Creveling, Mr. THOMAS G. LIVINGSTON to Miss JENNIE KAY, all of Hopewell, Pa.

On the 17th inst., at the Exchange Hotel, by Rev. J. A. Price, Mr. J. S. MALONE and Miss ADALINE GATES, of Hopewell.

DIED,

At Yellow Springs, Blair county, Sept. 27th, 1865, Mr. GEO. W. PATTERSON, aged 35 years.

In Brush Valley township, Indiana county, Pa., on the morning of the 11th inst., after a linger illness, MARTHA L. daughter of John B. and Catharine Simons, aged 18 yrs., 7 mos., and 24 das

On the 16th inst., at Irventon, Pa., WM. W. YOUNG, aged 26 years, son of George B. Young, Esq., Alexandria, this county.

When those who, having climbed through the shadowy slope of many long years go down to the deeper shadows of death, expectancy prepares the heart, and slants the weight of affliction that tends to crush it; but when one in the van of life's action, with pride and strength, gaining the plandits of those who watch his successful strivings, falls stricken and dead on the field at a time when distinction seems sure, the dull haze, as of an October day, enshrouds, and every little ray of beaming joy is blinded and barred from the souls of the bereaved.

The deceased was a young man of great promise. Possessing business qualities of a rare order, he has long been employed in positions of responsibility and trust by the Penna. R. R. Company. By an accident on the 3d inst., on the Philadelphia and Erie Road, near Irventown Station, he received injuries that have resulted in death.

Though his untimely end will be widely lamented, yet here where was his home the gloom occasioned by his loss is dark and universal; though difficult indeed is it to realize that our frank, generous friend is no more; that he who with his genial smile, met us but a few days ago in the streets of his native village, surrounded by a scene every object of which was fraught with remembrances of boyhood, has now voyaged the sea that flows onward toward the ocean of eternity; that not even an echo will float back from the silent ferryman of death.

It is now our best consolation to know that such an one was once among us, and although called early, that he now exists where youth is eternal.

G. C. W.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your father, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on South east corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

may 31, 1865. FRANCIS B. WALLACE.

DYSPEPSIA.—What every body says must be true. We have heard Dr. Strickland's Tonic spoken of so frequently by those who have been benefitted by it, that at least we are compelled to make it known to the public that we really believe it effects a cure in every case; therefore, we say to those who are suffering with Dyspepsia or Nervous Debility, to go to their Druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Strickland's Tonic.

CAUTION.

ON the night of the 13th of September, 1865, the Safe of the Huntingdon & Broad Top Railroad Office, at Huntingdon, was blown open and a $1000 Bond of the consolidated seven per cent. loan of the Huntingdon & Broad Top Railroad Company, No. 1037, extracted therefrom. All persons are cautioned against negotiating the same, as it will not be paid by the Company. OLIVER AYRES, Supt.

Superintendent's Office, Huntingdon, Sept. 14th, 1865.

FOR SALE,

THE RUINS OF THE LATE ALEXANDRIA FOUNDRY.

THE undersigned not feeling to rebuild the Foundry now offers for sale the ruins and all property saved. The building was a stone structure.—The Moulding room was 44 x 46; Ware room, Engine and Lathe rooms were 39 x 47; the walls of which are still standing and were but little injured by the fire. The engine, boiler and stack are perfect, the cupola is also standing uninjured. There is a large stock of valuable patterns, consisting of rolling mill, grist mill, forge and furnace patterns; a large stock of flasks for all kinds of work, a full set of large and small crain and hand ladles, the largest of which is capable of holding twenty hundred.

The ground connected with the Foundry is one acre and fifteen perches, on which there is erected a frame building used as a pattern house; also, wagon and carriage houses.

ALSO,

Three houses and lots, having fruit, &c., all of which will be sold cheap. Terms easy to suit the purchaser.

For further particulars apply in person or by mail to

A FARM AT PRIVATE SALE.

The subscribers will offer at private sale a farm situated in Jackson township, containing about one hundred and forty of which are cleared, and the balance well timbered with pine, oak and chestnut.

The improvements consist of a good dwelling house, bank barn, blacksmith shop, corn house, wagon shed, and other necessary out buildings.

A branch of Stone Creek runs through the premises, and a spring of good and never failing water near the house. A good apple orchard, and a number of young peach trees are also on the farm.

This is a desirable location, well adapted to the raising of stock, and is convenient to schools and churches.

For further information inquire of the undersigned living on the farm.

JOSEPH DUFF,
oct4-1m SAMUEL DUFF.

Farm For Sale.

THE HEIRS of Joseph Reed will sell at private sale a valuable limestone farm containing and allowances, situate in WEST TOWNSHIP, Huntingdon county, Pa., one mile from Petersburg, which is on the line of the Penna. Railroad.

157 Acres, 141 Perches,

About 120 acres are cleared and in good state of cultivation, including some 25 acres in meadow. The remaining part is well timbered and is every acre available for farming purposes

There are on it a large well finished brick house, a large bank barn, one tenant house, a brick spring house, carriage house, wagon shed and corn crib.

Also, an excellent apple and peach orchard. The fences are good; including nearly 200 panels post and rail fence.

On the farm are three never failing springs of the best limestone water, and a running stream passing through one corner of the barnyard. This presents a rare chance to obtain a productive, first quality farm.

For further particulars call upon or address, previous to October 20th, the undersigned.

T. B. REED, Petersburg, Hunt. co.

Electricity.

DR. BREWSTER HAS OPENED an office in Huntingdon, Pa., and has cured, and further pledges himself to cure a class of diseases acknowledged to be incurable by any known process of medication, diseases that never have, nor never can be controlled, only by his mode of applying the various modifications of Electricity.

The Doctor does not wish to convey the impression that he cures all diseases in all conditions; he does not wish to shock the sense of the public by asserting that he can cure pulmonary consumption after the lungs are half decayed, but he pledges himself to cure every case of pulmonary consumption in the early and middle stage, and every other disease where a sufficient amount of vitality remains for reaction.

Electricity is always safe in the hands of an experienced operator. The currents are perfectly under control, and can be regulated to suit the delicate nerves of a child without any unpleasant sensation.

☞All those who have long suffered from painful and obstinate diseases!

☞All those who have been given up by other Physicians!

☞All those who have been dismissed as incurable from hospitals!

ARE INVITED TO CALL.

Electricity, unlike Medicine, is capable of producing all the changes necessary to cure any disease, when applied from proper polarities. The following are among the diseases our system of practice has proved especially successful in curing.

Diseases Cured by Electropathy.

Amaurosis; Aphony, loss of voice, &c.; Asthma; Ague Chills, fever and ague; Atrophy; nervous consumption; Atony of the stomach, Amenorrhœa, suppressed menses; All mercurial diseases; Bites of poisonous insects or animals; Bronchitis; stone or gravel in Bladder; Consumption; Chlorosis, green-sickness Concussion of brain; Contraction of chest; strictures of limbs, Chollic, from different causes; Cramps or spasms, chronic or acute; Congestive diseases of all kinds, Corea; St. Vitus dance; Coldness of feet and hands; Cancers, in certain stages; Copper colored cuticle, or blotches; Catarrh; Diptheria; Deformed limbs straitened, Deafness, from paralysis of accoustic nerve; Dizziness or drowsiness; Dropsy; Diabetes; Dyspepsia, in all its forms; Dismenorrhœa, painful menstruation; Difficult respiration; Enlargement of joints; Earache; Epilepsy, falling sickness; Fits, from different causes; Gastrition, irritation of the stomach; Gout; Goitre or swelled neck; Glandular swellings; Hemiplegia; Hemorrhage, from different causes; Hysteria, irritable spine, &c.; sick or nervous Headache; Insanity; Inflamed or sore eyes; Incontinence of urine; torpid state of Liver; Lungs, hemorrhage of, congestion of, &c.; Lockjaw; Liver, enlargement of; Leuchorrhea; flour albus; whites; Mental depression; Muscular contraction; Menstruation, derangement in; Mononmania; Milkleg; Numbness, from injuries or otherwise; Neuralgic Nocturnal emissions; Old sores, indolent ulcers; Ozena, in some of its forms: Paraplegia; Palsy, numb or shaking, Paralysis, in whatever part; Poisoning; Palpitation of the heart; Prostration from various causes; Prolapsus uteri, &c., Prolapsus ani, or piles; excessive Perspiration; suspended Perspiration; Pulmonary apoplexy; Rush of Blood to the head; Rheumatism, acute or chronic; Restlessness; Swelled Tonsils; Sore Throat, from any cause; Salt rheum; Scrofula; Spinal diseases, curvature, &c.; Ovarian Tumors; &c.; Tremens, delirium, or at death, Tetanus, or lockjaw, Uterine misplacements, Uterine weakness; Weak Eyes, &c.; White swellings. Designed exclusively to impart a thorough and PRACTICAL BUSINESS EDUCATION.

All classes of persons require such an education. Those possessing means, need it in conducting their own business Those without means need it in obtaining and creditably filling lucrative positions in the employ of others.

The course of instruction and practice is arranged so as to fully meet the diversified wants of every department of
as comprehended or embraced under the three general divisions of industry: Agriculture, Manufacture and Commerce.

Each student is instructed individually in both theory and practice of Book Keeping, according to the most approved and labor saving methods. Business Penmanship, Calculations, and all the collateral branches of a complete course of business education; and upon passing a satisfactory examination is awarded, by authority of law, a diploma, under the corporate seal of the college.

Students are received at any time. And it is believed that a practical experience of over TWENTY YEARS will be considered by the public an ample guarantee of the practical character of the course and efficiency of the instruction.

All further information desired can be obtained at the college, or by addressing the Principal for a circular by mail.

☞A liberal discount is allowed to wounded and honorably discharged soldiers. The college is open day and evening.

I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more echo and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.

THIS POPULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all those complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficiency. If you have an aching pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label; otherwise the money will be refunded.

I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, applicable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.

Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.

This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.

This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use.

J. H. McENTYRE,
Proprietor, Reading, Pa.

DR. VENARD'S
STAR MAGIC LINIMENT.

$1000 REWARD will be paid for any medicine that excels this for the following diseases:

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Spinal Affections, Contracted Joints, Cholic Pains, Pains in Side or Back, Toothache, Headache, Sprains, Sore Throat, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, and all Diseases of the Muscles, Skin and Glands.

This is an Internal and External Medicine, composed of Roots, Herbs and Barks such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on the earth to cure all complaints, if we only knew what they were. This has been a subject for constant study with the Medical Faculty for a great many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what portions to use.

This wonderful remedy needs no recommendation save the results which invariably follow its application.

☞This popular remedy is fast coming into use from the fact that it gives good satisfaction.

☞PHYSICIANS are invited to test its efficacy in all cases of Rheumatism, Affections of the Spinal Column, and all Diseases of the Skin, Muscles and Glands. It has been used in thousands of instances under the personal supervision of the Inventors, and has never disappointed their expectations. All we ask for it is a trial—experimental proof—not the testimony of the men of straw, are the vouchers we desire to present to the public.

It would be well for many now lying in beds of torture, if these facts could reach their sick chambers. It is more important to them than to the inventors that this should be the case. "Truth is mighty and must prevail."

☞Keep it in your family, for sickness comes when you least expect it.

PRICE--ONE DOLLAR.
